FROM THE DESK OF THE GRAND SECRETARY

Dear Readers:

There was a meeting of the D. D. G. M. Association on November 1st at State College Lodge No. 1032. I was very disappointed with the turn out. Only the Deputies that usually attend were present. There was an informative seminar conducted by PGM Cupp. It is too bad that the Deputies do not show an interest.

I wonder what happened that there is so little interest in growing the Order. Most of the people putting on the degrees now have to read their part. You will have to admit that does not leave the impression on the candidates that it did when every one knew their part and no one used a Ritual. Think about it, would you be impressed? If not, then think about what you can do to change things, learn a part, help someone to learn a part.

The way things are going we MUST do something to turn things around or we will go the way of a lot of other Fraternities are gone or almost gone. I would hate to see that happen we have so many good things to offer.

Fraternally,
William L. Locke
Grand Secretary

IOOF #1030 ANNUAL PICNIC 2008

Charleroi I.O.O.F #1030 Annual Picnic held August 7, 2008 at Speer's Park reserved by Brother Regis Carroll. There were in attendance 58 members and guests. We all gathered in the early evening under the trees at our favorite pavilion enjoying the sunny sky and a gentle cooling breeze. Members and their guests greeted each new arrival with news of recent events and their family activities. The entertainment committee of brothers Bob Huston, Val Gene Veschio, Ed Conley, Dave DuBarr, George Hogan, Jr. and Richard Ames had our Traditional Bean Jar guessing game, "Half of the Take" tickets and door prizes all arrayed as we first entered the pavilion. The Delicious Buffet chosen by the committee of Brothers Bob Grant, John Rebar and Leonard Santini was set with Sauerkraut and Keilbasa, Chicken, Beef and Hot Sausage accompanied with potatoes, green beans, salad and rolls; the cold drinks were provided by Lynn Price and Dave Metz.

Noble Grand Brother Dave Metz had all rise for the Pledge to the Flag and Chaplain Brother Bernard Kennedy asked us to join him as he offered a prayer for the members of those Brothers who passed away during the past year; then offered a blessing on the gathering, giving thanks for the food we were about to partake.

After enjoying our favorite choices from the buffet and eating delicious cake provided by Brother Hugh Carey; the Brothers on the Entertainment Committee awarded numerous prizes to the many winners; which included fruit baskets, gasoline cards and various other gifts.

Introduction was made of special guest Grand Master William Ramsey visiting from Calvin, Pa to honor us with an informal visit and enlightened us at to the goals he has for Odd Fellowship during his tenure as Grand Master; one of which he is working to attain in visiting us today that being to visit every Odd Fellow Lodge Group in Pennsylvania during his tenure. Brother Bill is a young, friendly, energetic Odd Fellow member. He displays an enthusiasm that is contagious and his remarks were well received. The Membership approached him at the end of his introduction and remarks to visit with him.

The evening picnic afforded all present a wonderful time of good fellowship with old friends and new. A special Thank You was offered to Brothers John Rebar and Jim Howells for Receiving the reservations and Brother Harry Corrin and John Karnack who decorated the tables and pavilion.

As the evening ended we all were looking forward to being together at our annual Christmas Banquet in December, our next gathering of Odd Fellows and Guests.

Brothers Leonard Santini, Recording Secretary; Jim Howes, Financial Secretary; John Rebar, Treasurer; Bill Ramsey, Grand Master; and Dave Metz, Noble Grand.

Some of the guests under the pavilion.

FROM THE DESK OF THE DEPARTMENT COMMANDER

How about Santa

Barney had always liked helping with the lodge Christmas Party. It was designed for the children and later grandchildren of the members. Barney first played Santa at the 1939 Christmas party, on Saturday, December 23, 1939. Barney was a willing candidate and his youngest child was still able to appreciate Santa. The lodge bought a new outfit for the 1939 Christmas party and Barney had to stuff a pillow in it look anywhere near the part.

By 1962 many things had changed. Barney's grandchildren were growing up. He had retired. The world had gone from a depression through a world war into a cold war. Two things were still the same, the lodge Christmas party was on Saturday, December 23, 1962 and Barney was still Santa Claus. The years had changed Barney and there was no longer a need for a pillow, there are no skinny Santa Clauses.

The lodge planned an elaborate party for about 50 children and mostly grandchildren of members the lodge and Rebekah lodge. The lodge rented a 16mm sound projector and a copy of the movie Miracle on 34th Street. After the movie, the committee played Christmas music on the phonograph while Barney's son and daughter-in-law passed out hot chocolate and cookies. There was a committee of Rebekahs that handed out coloring books and games.

The climax of the afternoon was to be a visit with Santa. The lodge brought one of the large chairs for the scene supporters down into the social room. It was draped with a Christmas table cloth. There was a large basket of small boxes of candy with a candy cane taped to the top, it was stuffed into a feed sack and Barney carried it with him. Barney was to sit in the chair, ask each child what he or she wanted and give them a box of candy.

The plans were going well. Barney made a triumphal entrance while Gene Autry's Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer was playing on the phonograph. As he made his way through the cheering crowd, all the children were anxious to see Santa. He lined himself up with the chair and sat down amid cheers and music. The children and Rebekahs in the hall did not hear the loud rip as Barney settled into the seat. Barney was sure his pants had just ripped the entire length of the seam up to the belt. He fidgeted a little, and settled in. He was grateful the chair was draped.

The children filed up, one by one and told their hearts' desires to Barney. He gave them a box of candy and cautioned them to be good little boys and girls. All the time he was wondering how he was going to get off the chair and get out of there.

Barney was not sure whether he was glad or sad to see the last child leave his lap. The hall was filled with 50+ children, many lodge members and about 20 Rebekahs, some of whom Barney had never seen before. Brother Molinari was doing some of the kitchen clean-up and asked Barney if he would like to take off the outfit and join the others in singing a few songs. Barney said he would rather stay in the big chair and relax. Less than five minutes passed when Barney's son brought him a large mug of cocoa. Barney thought he could sip the cocoa and wait out the crowd.

After ten minutes of sipping the cocoa, the children and adults were still singing Joy to World. Barney knew the crowd wouldn't break up till they sang Silent Night. As he looked at the bottom of the cocoa mug he began thinking about the three cups of coffee he had before he left for the party. Every song seemed to be the length of a Wagnerian opera as Barney watched the children singing.

Barney was getting more and more uncomfortable, when his four year old granddaughter, Emily, plopped down on his lap and asked if he was going to eat Christmas dinner with her. Since she could tell he was Santa, he told her she would be having Christmas dinner with him. She started to talk about a doll house but Barney was feeling so uncomfortable he did not hear half of what she said. She finally went over to her parents who putting away the record player since Silent Night had just ended. Everyone was putting on his or her coat and getting ready to go outside. Brother Clancey asked Barney if he could help move the tables and take the chair back up to the lodge room. Barney grabbed Clancey and whispered in his ear that he had no seat in his pants. Since all the children were seated before Barney, he could exit to the rear and retreat to the rest room where his clothes were.

Clancey came up with an idea. He went in the kitchen and got another table cloth. He held it up to shield Barney. He told the children who were leaving that the reindeer spooked easily and he had to give Santa cover till he got to the spot in the hall where the reindeer were tied. Barney felt as if the weight of the world was lifted when he got to the rest room.

After regaining his composure and changing clothes, Barney helped move the tables and chairs and wished everyone a Merry Christmas.

Little Emily went over to Barney on Christmas and asked, "Grandpa, were there really reindeer in the hall at the lodge?"

Barney replied, "Not exactly, but sometimes there are other important needs that must be met, I needed to get a little work done to the suit."

Have a blessed and happy Christmas and Hanukkah

Next Month, "One Cold Day"

MIDDLETOWN HOME NEWS

Getting to know an Exceptional Employee

We are honored to have Anita Zemetis, Personal Care Aide assisting our residents here at The Middletown Home. Anita has been recognized for her hard work and dedication and we would like to share some biographical information about her.

Anita grew up in the country and said she had a lot of fun but worked hard also. She enjoyed rabbits and dogs as pets and they were special to her. Her friends growing up were Crystal, Susie, and Ingrid. Her parents were glad she had nice friends. Her friends never got her in trouble because she said she always listened to her parents.

One of her first jobs was in a hospital and in her free time she enjoyed hiking, camping, and cooking.

She met her husband at a Christmas party. She said he was a total jock. He was a lifeguard and on the swim team. He was very kind.

Her favorite colors are pastels. She loves to eat seafood and chocolate chip ice cream.

She loves Stephen King novels, watching scary movies, and likes the sport of tennis.

If she had something she could do over again she would finish college.

Something she said she would "never" do but does now is she has a messy house.

A very memorable moment for Anita was when her granddaughter was born. There was such pride in her son's eyes.

Some changes in society in her lifetime include people being less courteous and more aggressive and people spending less time with their families.

She is very proud of her volunteer time. She has been an ombudsman and did some dental assisting with the Navy.

Goals that she would like to work toward are "never stop learning".

Lastly, when people look back at her life she wants to be remembered as a caring, thoughtful person who would help you and make you laugh.

CENTRE COUNTY

Schedule

Thanks to Don Trulick for a mental kick in the shins. It occurred to me after many years of this newsletter that we were not truly covering all of Central Pa. Granted Centre County has three Lodges, but there is more to the center of the state than our county. Also, I must challenge the secretaries of other lodges to let me know when you have extra-curricular activities taking place. One of these is the visit on the 6th of Grand master Bill Ramsey to Centre Lodge in Bellefonte. Here I am using Don's words. "This is an official visit to our District, the meeting will start at 7:30 PM. Some eats will be served earlier at 6:30. The Lodges in our District are State College, Port Matilda, and Centre Lodge. We should all try to be there and make it an evening of Fraternity, and listen to what the Grand Master has to say. GM Ramsey is from Mt Hor Lodge in Cassville, Pa (just south of Huntingdon), and he is pushing a good program that we'll all be interested in hearing about."

Membership Incentive

Bellefonte Encampment #72 has declared that it will pay the dues of the member who brings in the most new members during the calendar year 2009. This is good for any member of any Centre County Lodge. See the Secretary for details.

Thanks again, Don, appreciate the info...kk

Spaghetti Supper

The first dinner of the year went off without a hitch. The technique for cooking the spaghetti worked like a charm. The sauce caused a little trouble. My official taster said it was too spicy on the first taste test. Tone it down, second taste, an improvement but still too strong. I finally said OK you go on and do the things you have to do. More adjusting for the "too strong a flavor". About an hour and a half later she and a friend were finishing their supper. First comment from the friend was, "Hey Ken, the dinner was delicious". My wife looked up and repeated her friend's remark. So be ready for our next attempt at good Spaghetti and show up on the 22nd.

Installation

Installation of officers went pretty smooth this year. The men's lodges helped each other and got the job done without a hitch. Lady Emily, however, had to do it twice since two sisters were out of town the first time. Let's work for a good year.

Peace

There is a place of quiet rest near to the heart of God, A place where sin cannot molest, near to the heart of God. There is a place of comfort sweet, near to the heart of God, A place where we our Savior meet, near to the heart of God. There is a place of full release near to the heart of God, a place where all is joy and peace, near to the heart of God.

A MESSAGE FROM THE GRAND PATRIARCH

Brothers and Sisters,

I know you are reading this in December, however, October was a busy month. On Saturday, October 11, the Encampment held its annual degree rally at Aluta Lodge. There were three (3) patriarchs initiated that day. We welcome them with open arms! Also at the rally we had one Past Chief Patriarch receive the Grand Encampment Degree and I want to congratulate him. I want to personally thank all of the degree teams for a tremendous job and Aluta Lodge for hosting the rally. We had a wonderful day of Odd Fellowship.

This month I was busy helping the District Deputy Grand Master with installations. I participated in four (4) installations acting as District Deputy Grand Marshall for one and District Deputy Grand Secretary for the other three. It is always so nice to visit other lodges, something we should all do more.

General Worth Encampment No. 188 received four (4) applications for membership in the month of October and we accepted four (4) new patriarchs. We are so happy to have these new patriarchs. I want to encourage all patriarchs to ask your lodge members to join an encampment. Remember all you have to do is ask. You might be surprised with the response. I have found that a lot of lodges want to help other lodges so that they can continue on. All it takes is to ask someone to join.

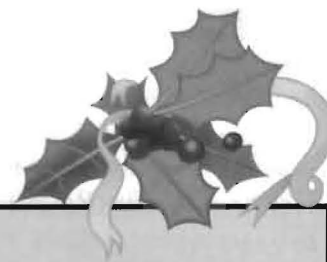

On Saturday, October 25, 2008 we honored Jr. Past Grand Master Stewart Brenneman at a testimonial in York, PA. I did not know Stu very well prior to his election as Grand Warden, but what a friendship has developed with Stu and Sis over the past several years. They are true Odd Fellows and dear friends. John and I wish Stu and Sis all the best!

Since this is the December magazine article, I want to wish each and every one of you a Blessed Holiday Season and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Remember to keep on asking, we need more members.

In Faith Hope & Charity

Emilie J. Cupp, Grand Patriarch

DEGREE RALLY HELD AT WALKER LODGE

On Saturday October 18th Walker Lodge held its annual degree rally and put on the Initiatory, 1st, 2nd and 3rd degrees. Grand Master Bill Ramsey and his staff opened the lodge meeting with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner and the Opening Ode. This was followed by Walker Lodge performing the Initiatory and 1st degrees in the morning session followed by lunch. During the lunch break, Grand Master Bill Ramsey and his staff put on the Past Grands Degree then had a late lunch.

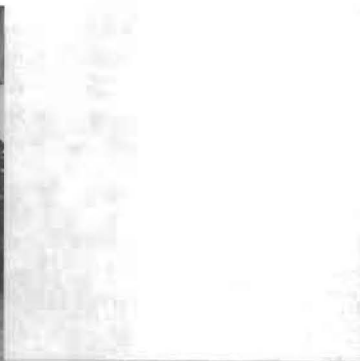

After lunch break, GM Ramsey reopened the lodge for Walker to perform the 2nd and 3rd degrees. There were 25 candidates receiving the various degrees. Pictured with the Grand Master are 23 of the new members. The other two must have had early dismissal slips. The candidates came from both Pennsylvania (as far away as Altoona) and eight candidates were from the jurisdiction of New Jersey and were accompanied by the Grand Master of New Jersey - GM J. R. Powell - pictured with the eight new members.

Also pictured are various dignitaries from both New Jersey and Pennsylvania and a picture of GM Ramsey's staff who were in attendance. After the various dignitaries were introduced and gave a few words, GM Ramsey concluded with an inspirational lesson about Odd Fellowship. This was followed by closing of the meeting and singing of the Closing Ode.

A special thanks goes to GM Powell and Past GM Nevin Adams for helping out with the audio/visual effect and also a special thanks goes to Brother Justin Bailey (of Harmony Lodge #86 in Tamaqua) for filling in on several of the major speaking parts of the degrees.

Finally, special recognition is given to Delores Shorten (wife of Charlie Shorten - Walker's Degree Master) for her preparation of the delicious lunch and dinner meal servings.

Hey, we'll have to do this again next year and see if we can surpass the class of 25 candidates. Remember although Walker Lodge (with video and production help from Past Grand Tom McHugh) has the four degrees on DVD for use internationally, there's nothing like the real thing baby! Remember, plan ahead, recruit new members for your Lodge and then join us for next fall's "Saturday Day Live" Degree Rally.

THE MYSTERY OF THE MISSING GRAVE MARKERS

Tombstone stairway found; has a century old Tamaqua cemetery crime been solved?

By Donald R. Serfass - dserfass@tnonline.com

Published by Times News Online - www.tnonline.com

It might be a case suitable for Agatha Christie.

Plus, it's seemingly fitting to be happening in October, the month of Halloween.

Stolen tombstones, for decades partially hidden and unnoticed, have been found in the backyard of a historic Tamaqua house built by one of the community's most prominent architects.

People are beginning to buzz about the discovery of a 'tombstone stairway' and retaining wall containing as many as 15 or more 19th century headstones uncovered in the backyard of a private residence at 398 West Cottage Avenue. The large four-story Dutch Colonial manse was erected and occupied by James D. Schlegel.

Schlegel was one of Tamaqua's most highly respected early builders and architects, responsible for many of the stately homes that line Broad Street and "Mansion Row" along West Broad.

The discovery might help solve a century-old crime even though it's likely nobody alive today would remember it.

Gwen Davies points to a tombstone used as part of a retaining wall at the rear of a Tamaqua house she purchased one month ago. A stairway made of stolen tombstones led to the wall but has been dismantled in preparation of returning the markers. Also shown is Justin Bailey, caretaker, Odd Fellows Cemetery.

twin tombstones of two infant girls.

"The one child was only 4 months old. My daughter was the same age. That's what made me want to see them returned," she said.

Then, she discovered the exterior stairway and more tombstones. Some are inscribed with the last name 'Beach,' some are the 'Latham' family, and there are more some unreadable.

Davies contacted the police, who offered to contact local cemeteries. In the meantime, Davies took matters into her own hands and called Odd Fellows, the nearest and largest resting place.

A quick check of early records revealed that several of the tombstones came from the southeast corner of Odd Fellows Cemetery, a Victorian garden plot begun in 1863. The remaining stones came from other sections.

"There once were trees there. It was more forested," said Bailey. There are many tombstones missing in that general area, he said, pointing to a southeast hillside that slopes in the direction of West Cottage Avenue.

The James Schlegel House, 398 West Cottage Ave., Tamaqua.

At the Schlegel property, some of the stolen limestone and granite headstones were used to build a stairway leading up the sharp terrain. Most of the stairway has been dismantled. Other markers were used in a retaining wall. Many have concrete adhering to them concrete which appears to be very old.

"They'll need to be chiseled," Bailey noted. "Some appear to have been purposely broken to fit the steps."

The stairway and wall were partially obscured by decades of erosion. There may be other headstones completely buried in the steep, rocky hillside.

According to records, the 11-room, brick Schlegel house was built on Aug. 2, 1912, confirmed by a date and signature carved into a first floor cement wall. The signature is that of Schlegel's son, George, who graduated from Tamaqua High on June 17, 1914.

The house itself has some unusual characteristics, including a cellar tunnel.

Situated at the bottom of Stadium Hill, at the corner of Lehigh Street and Cottage Avenue, the imposing home was erected atop an 1800s beer vault used by Yuengling Brewery, Pottsville. The brewery used the vault for local storage purposes. The vault is still present beneath the rear portion of the home and can be accessed from the basement. It consists of a stone arch built into the hillside, an eight-foot tunnel dug in order to keep beer cool. Its contents were refreshed by supplies arriving via Yuengling's teams of horses.

New owner Gwen Davies, a Yardley native, said she and her fiancé purchased the home about a month ago. The building is located in the South Ward section and is considered a strong contributing resource to the 35-block Tamaqua National Historic District.

While the tombstone discovery answers the question of what happened to the markers, it must be emphasized that nobody is pointing a finger as to the identity of the person(s) responsible. Nobody knows for certain who stole the markers and incorporated them into a backyard stairway and retaining wall, or when, exactly, it took place. In addition, the building has had many owners over the years.

According to early records, Schlegel married Mana Beader, daughter of Charles Beader of Shamokin, and the couple had seven children: George J., Verna, Erye, Nelson, Pauline, James and Daniel.

Schlegel died in September of 1958, at the age of 88 years.

Bailey would like to return the tombstones to their original locations in the next week or so and is hoping to recruit assistance from other members of Odd Fellows. He also said he's be grateful for any help offered by the public. Anyone interested in lending a hand can call the cemetery at (570) 668-2070.

In the meantime, Davies is glad to see justice done as she moves into her new house.

"I just want to get them back where they belong," she said.

Justin Bailey of Odd Fellows cemetery and homeowner Gwen Davies hoist part of the tombstone stairway, just a portion of two dozen or more headstones found in the backyard of a private Tamaqua residence. It reads: "John L. Beach, oldest son of John E. and Jane Beach, born June 8, 1828, at Stockton up on Tee's, England; Died June 26, 1870 AD at Mineral Point, Wisconsin, age 42 years."
